A new wind for Extricom Extrusion: Managing Director Thomas Bauer

In January 2017 Extricom was acquired by the CPM Holding. Together with Century Extrusion and Ruiya Extrusion, Extricom Extrusion is now part of the worldwide group CPM Extrusion Group.

Until 2017 was owned by the family Blach and managed by Markus and Michael Blach, as of January 2018 Thomas Bauer has taken over the management responsibilities. Thomas has 16 years of experience at Extricom during which he has held both technical and management positions including Manager of Process Technology, Sales Manager, and Sales Director. Prior to that he worked for the University of Stuttgart as a compounding lab technician and as Manager of Polymer Processing Technology for Rotex GmbH. Thomas holds a Polymer Processing Technology degree and is currently enrolled at the German Graduate School in Heilbronn studying for his Master of Business Administration (MBA) which he expects to complete in September of 2018.

Thomas will build further on the Blach legacy for machine and process innovation and will also focus on the integration of all know how of the three CPM Extrusion group companies. Further, he will be an integral part of the global CPM Extrusion leadership team and its pursuit of business expansion around the world.

Thomas' vision for Extricom Extrusion is in line with the one of CPM Extrusion Group and captures: "With our innovation power around multi-shaft extrusion systems, we want to provide our customers worldwide solutions with outstanding competitive advantages." Corporate values which are of strong importance to him: leadership, agility, trust, dedication and passion.

Already now, Extricom has built its first twin screw machine the CXE 45sHO which we will show at NPE Orlando. We will focus further on the growth of the plastics industry worldwide and will be launching new series at our next events. For further information check out our website www.cpmextrusiongroup.com.
